Lynchburg Warehouse Leased

Negotiations which have been in progress for several weeks between the Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association and the Lynchburg Tobacco Warehouse Company were brought to a close last night when representatives of the two organizations signed a lease by the terms of which the tobacco association will have the use of Martin warehouse on Commerce street.

Taking part in the final negotiations were J. R. Haynes assistant director of warehouses, Richmond; T. E. Chamberlain, manager of warehouses in the dark belt of Virginia; C. W. Wingfield, director of Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association for the seventh district which includes Campbell, Amherst, Bedford and Appomattox counties, and R G Robertson, president of the Lynchburg Warehouse Corporation.

Ability to Finance Tobacco Crop no Longer in Doubt

In a statement made public, Oliver J. Sands, executive manager, and treasurer of the Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association, said that the action of the war finance corporation, in approving a maximum loan of $30,000,000 to the association definitely settles all questions relating to the ability of the association to finance the movement of the tobacco crop of this section. He added that the movement will "cause no shock to the financial situation in this district."

Select Crimson Clover With Care

Information in the hands of the Commissioner of Agriculture of Virginia is to the effect that Europe, which furnishes a large proportion of the Crimson Clover seed used in this country, has a short crop of seed this year. American grown seed is also scarce. Those who are in a position to know predict that there will be much Crimson Clover seed on the market this year which is poor, below the average quality and of weak vitality. Old seed carried over from previous seasons brown in color, low in germination will probably be offered; not only in separate lots but blended and mixed with new crop seed of better appearance and stronger vitality.

The mixing of low grade seed with high grade seed is a organized practice among the trade, though the commissioner thinks it deserves condemnation as it is simply a medium by which low grade, carried over stock can be disposed of to advantage. The presence of any considerable quantity of brown, dull appearing seed in Crimson Clover is pretty good evidence of blending, and in purchasing such seed the farmer or dealer should view with a critical eye and insist upon knowing its germination and the date it was tested.

The commissioner advises farmers to buy only recently tested seed with analysis tags attached and check the analysis statement by having each lot tested—especially for germination. Representative samples sent to the commissioner of agricultura', Richmond, Va., will be tested without charge, and as the germination test only requires from three to five days for Crimson Clover, prompt reports showing its approximate vitality or germination can be secured.

Westmoreland Davis

Candidate for

United States Senator

in the Democratic Primary, August 1st, 1922.

In presenting the name of former Governor Davis to the citizens of Virginia for this high office, we do so with the full confidence that his splendid achievements as Chief Executive of the State, will instantly appeal to them.

His record is that of a fearless, courageous, business-like official whose administration stands out in bold relief—as one typifying a 100% redemption of pledges made to the people. As has been said of him, "He has kept the faith."

May we send you his platform?

Her Money Was Gone!

An old woman who lived alone had kept nearly $2,000 00 in currency around her house for years. She was afraid of banks.

Last fall she became seriously ill, and——

No, she didn't die. But when she went to look for the cash it was gone! Fortunately some honest friends had found it while she was unconscious and had deposited it to her credit in a bank.

This woman has now decided that after all the bank is the safest place, and, besides, her money is not idle any longer. It is now earning 4 per cent for its owner.

Let us put your money to work for you.

VICTORIES OF PEACE EQUAL THOSE OF WAR

Whether the task is the construction of a colossal harbor improvement project, or the administration of a newly acquired insular possession, the Department of War is always prepared to bring to the task a high degree of skill and masterful judgment. How "peace hath her victories no less renowned than war" for the military department of the nation is interestingly described and illustrated in one of an instructive series of articles on Our Government now being distributed exclusively by this Institution.
